

Dupont, Karen

From: Laura Dattilio <dattilio6and3@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, January 21, 2014 9:08 PM
To: NRB - Comments
Subject: Comment on Harrison Concrete

I know that today is past the 1/19 date on the website. I just had the opportunity to read the comments of HRM and their lawyer. I must express my thoughts even if you have to disregard them.

I wish to know what the point of setting hours of operation would be if there is never an expectation that they be followed? I also fail to see how incessant violation of hours is an argument to continue to violate them. A thief who goes uncaught for a decade can still be punished for his crimes once he is brought to justice. Why should the citizens surrounding HRM still have to suffer for the fact that complaints brought to our town fell on deaf ears and we lacked awareness and ability to navigate enforcement channels.

I do not begin to understand the complexity of the legal system. I thought time was easy enough to interpret. I will aspire only to honor my awareness of right and wrong and shift my focus to what really matters most in life. Thank you for your time.

Laura Dattilio